

PrEP and You!

Today more than ever there is information coming in from everywhere, noise is all around you. One day you hear coffee is good for you, the next day it isn't. It is imperative that you rise above this noise and focus on real information, that which will serve you best.

While there is no cure for HIV, a 90% risk reduction is very encouraging. But how does one achieve that? This is where PrEP PreExposure Prophylaxis comes into play. PrEP is a way for people who are at very high risk to prevent HIV infection by SIMPLY taking a pill every day. The pill contains two medicines that are also used to treat HIV. If you take PrEP and are exposed to HIV through sex or injection drug use, these medicines can work to keep the virus from taking hold in your body. PrEP is a powerful HIV prevention tool and can be combined with condoms and other prevention methods to provide even greater protection than when used alone. But people who use PrEP must commit to taking the drug every day and seeing their health care provider for follow-up every 3 months.
